NASA Rocket United Launch Alliance

(NOVEMBER 18, 2022)

The Moon makes a stunning backdrop for the successful launch of the third in a series of polar-orbiting weather satellites for the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) and our Low-Earth Orbit Flight Test of an Inflatable Decelerator (LOFTID) on November 10 at 4:49 a.m. EST from Vandenberg Space Force Base in California. A United Launch Alliance Atlas V rocket carried the Joint Polar Satellite System (JPSS)-2 and LOFTID.

Unlocking the Mysteries of a Protein Linked to Alzheimer's Scientists Identify a Potential Treatment

(November 18, 2022)

A mechanism has been discovered that regulates cellular levels of tau, a protein whose aberrant accumulation is at the root of tauopathies, a class of devastating neurodegenerative diseases. The finding was discovered in the laboratory of Michel Cayouette, director of cellular neurobiology research at the Montreal Clinical Research Institute (IRCM) and a medical professor at the University of Montreal.

Ord Hall Gallery's Studio Art Senior Capstone exhibit 'Énouement' opens Friday

(November 16, 2022)

Senior studio art students at the University of Maine hanging up artwork for their capstone exhibit at Lord Hall. (Courtesy of University of Maine) This year, the Studio Art Senior Capstone exhibit in Lord Hall Gallery is called "Enouement". As always, the students in the class chose the name, which is French for the bitter sweetness of having arrived here in the future without being able to tell your past self how everything turned out.

Crypto industry rocked after Binance pulls out of FTX acquisition, crypto currencies sent reeling.

(November 10, 2022)

The crypto industry has already been hit hard this year, and FTX's recent misfortunes did not help it. Things were looking up, however, when rival crypto currency exchange Binance responded to its pleas for help and agreed to bail out the platform. The world's largest crypto exchange signed a non-binding letter of intent (LOI) to "fully acquire" its rival crypto platform.
